

Gonda

With

Zeus!

Medusa

Gonda

Zeus

Gonda with Zeus

By Emily

Gonda was the nicest person in town. He was also very nice to all creatures. He was so nice, anything would listen to him. Since he could pretty much control everything, people compared him to the god Zeus. Zeus didn't like Gonda being compared to him and soon became irritated about it. Zeus then remembered how he was human before, but then turned into a god. Zeus decided to turn Gonda into a god.

So he waited and one day flew down to Gonda. Zeus then said, "I am going to turn you into a god."

"I refuse to become a god." replied Gonda.

Then Zeus's face became red and he crossed his arms. He suddenly shot a lightning bolt right by Gonda! Gonda was very surprised and fainted. Zeus summoned Venus to take Gonda to a place where he could be turned into a god. But just then, Gonda woke up. "Please do not make me a god!" pleaded Gonda.

"I will!!" thundered Zeus. Suddenly Zeus made a sound and it went ZAP!!! Gonda was now a god.

The next day Gonda wished people would treat him the same. One day Gonda started to talk to his best friend. But instead of talking to him he said, "Hi" and quickly walked off.

Other times people would crowd around him praising him and asking for every kind of wish in the world. Some other people and creatures would just run away with fear when they saw him. Nobody on Earth wanted to talk to him. He started traveling with his head down.

The gods were not very nice to him also. He walked up to Hades. But Hades just threatened to make Gonda live in the underworld. Gonda talked to Poseidon. But Poseidon just threatened to throw waves at him. Gonda tried to talk to Medusa. But she warned him that she could poison him with her snake hair. This made Gonda very sad and lonely.

Zeus saw that Gonda was depressed. He went to talk to Gonda. Gonda asked to be turned back into a mortal. But Zeus did not want to turn him back into a mortal. Zeus came up with a compromise. He could visit the Earth in human body, but only during winter. So there are tsunamis, hurricanes, earthquakes, tornadoes, and more during the spring and summer. That is because the gods and goddesses get mad because Gonda is trying to talk to them.

Gonda With Zeus,
A fun story. In greek mythology it explains why things happen. This tells why there are disasters