

By Jenna
Lost

Treasure

Zork Hills
Danger!

Ted

The Lost Treasure

By Jenna

Here's my story, it started like this, exactly like this. I remember it like it was yesterday, which in fact it was yesterday that my story starts. It all started in a small town called Dillas village. It was June 15, one day before my birthday and my dad had a surprise for me. I got out of bed and got dressed in the comfiest clothes I could find. I went to my dad's room, and he looked like a hitch hiker!

"You better change into good walking clothes because for your early birthday surprise James from work told me that there's gold down west and I've decided that we can try and find it, how about that for a surprise for ya?" told Bob

"You're so gullible," mumbled Maria

"What did you say honey?" asked Bob

"Nothing dad, are we almost ready to go where ever you are taking me?" asked Maria. They got in the car and started on their journey. It was so boring! It was in the middle of the afternoon and we stopped at a gas station. I was sweating and it felt like I was in a volcano. The weather kept changing from the boiling point of hot to below zero. Finally we arrived at our first stop. I looked around for a hotel but all I saw was hills, hills going on for miles and miles. From out of nowhere I heard voices, small voices. So I crept along the cold green hills and I saw little tiny people in the ground. They were so small. I can't explain exactly how they looked but here is my best explanation. They were yellow, had goggles on, and had little tiny hairs poking out. They wore overalls and black shoes and gloves. They were the cutest things I have ever seen in my life.

“Maria where are you honey?” shouted Bob. Maria wanted one so bad so she pulled it out of the ground. It stood there with a bored look on its face. Then all of a sudden it grew like two feet and started running around.

“Maria thank goodness you are all right I was worried about you!” stammered Bob.

“Dad what are you wearing on your face?”

“Definitely not your makeup that’s for sure,” replied dad.

“You look ridiculous dad,” laughed Maria as they started walking.

“Awwwww you are so adorable,” Bob said as he went to pick up one of the little creatures. Maria smacked Bob’s hand. They walked back to the car and on the way there they saw a sign. It said Zark Hills DANGER do not enter! If you do don’t pull them out of the ground no matter what!

“Ok we won’t listen to that, lets grab the car, and drive through this but make sure you don’t hit any of the creatures,” warned Maria. They started to drive and heard, “eeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeee.” They tried to drive but they couldn’t. Bob got out of the car and checked what was wrong. When he got out the tire was flattening because he ran over a nail. So Bob walked back to the car to spread the news to Maria.

“Maria, um, we have a flat tire so we will have to walk the rest of the way and it’s going to be a while before we get half way there,” whined Bob. So they grabbed their stuff and jogged away. I figured it would be faster if we jogged, but after the first thirty minutes Maria started to pant and cough.

“Dad where is my inhaler?” asked Maria trying to breathe, but she couldn’t catch her breathe

“I’m sorry honey but I think it’s in the car and the little yellow things got hungry and started eating it. Well if one of them eats it they won’t have to use an inhaler for the rest of their life,” exclaimed Bob, “Hey I know what will cheer you up, a joke, why was six afraid of seven? Because seven ate nine. Get it?”

“Yah and that is a very cheesy joke, you also told me that yesterday,” interrupted Maria. We started to get thirsty. We heard the sound of water. So we slowly dragged ourselves over there to get a drink. But the river was a mix of red, blue, and black, and there was no water. It was just air and there were little objects in it like clocks and dolls. So they got in carefully and tried to avoid breaking anything. They tried to go under, but they couldn’t. It kept them up no matter what they did. They started floating away. It was too strong for them to try to go back all of a sudden.....

“BOOM,BOOM,BOOM”

“Dad what was that?”

“Ohhhh cupcake or wait is that a muffin, I’m so confused why can’t I figure this out?” screamed Bob. A big cuddly teddy bear came out from behind the big green bushes. It looked so sad that I wanted to get out and hug it.

“It’s so fat and cute!” I screamed in delight.

“I’m not fat, I’m fluffy or puffy, oh excuse my manners but it is rude to call people fat and I want an apology. My name is ted and do you have a missing dog because I found a dog in the river, so I got it out. Do you want out of the river umm pe- ummm fol-um? Let me ask you this real quick, what are your guys’ names?”

“I’m Maria and this is my dad Bob”

“Ok new names Bobster and Popsicle. I like them so those are your guys new nicknames. Ok that’s what I will call you guys, are you listening?”

“Yah wait, what were you saying again? Oh yah you want an apology. Ok sorry, now get us out of this river type thingy please,” asked Maria

Ted got them out very fast. He was a gentle teddy bear, but very cute. Still the night looked like a black blanket with little drops of milk.

“So let’s get moving,” replied ted

So they started walking toward where the sun had set. There was a long long long long long silence and then.....

Maria sang, “Pink fluffy unicorns dancing on rainbows, pink fluffy unicorns dancing on rainbows, purple froggies dancing in space, purple froggies dancing in space, pink scaly elephants looking at a dictionary, pink scaly elephants looking at a dictionary, greeeeeen doooooooooogs eeeeeeeeeeeating doooooooooogs fooooooooood, bluish greenish fishies shopping at a thrift shop.”

BOOOOOOOOOM

“Ahh what was that noise?” asked Maria. A bomb exploded way far in the distance (a loooooooooooooong pause) then, there were people screaming. Maria stiffened up like a board I don’t remember this but I fainted, all of a sudden Maria saw weird people waving to come to them. I tried to say something but I couldn’t. Then they turned into trolls, very ugly ones in soldier armor. Each had a grenade and they went to throw them. Then, I woke with a startle, everybody was next to her.

“I had the worst dream,” said Maria.

“Well we don’t want to hear your boring story,” replied Bob.

“Oh yah, remember when I sang that song when we were on our trip to the puppet show, ohh wait that was with Sharia and Quin, wait dad was there too do you want to sing again pin-” Maria got cut off by her dad

“Noooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo!” screamed dad

“Okay you don’t have to be so rude,” stated Maria.

Arf arf barked the dog.

“Biscuit are you hungry do you want some treats for that hungry stomach of yours?” I replied, arf I handed a light brown bone shaped biscuit to Biscuit. I thought it was weird because his name was biscuit, but apparently he didn’t care. He chomped that thing down faster than he would have found it. We stopped under a tree to rest for the night, so we would have enough energy for the next day. I couldn't fall asleep since the next day was the day that I turned 7 years old!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

We woke up and heard that screaming noise again. I didn't know what it was, but it was louder, and it seemed much much closer than the last time we heard it. It started to scare me a little when I woke up and Ted and dad weren't there. I started to freak out and then I remembered what my dad had told me, 'Muffins are just ugly cupcakes. No no not that. If you ever get lost, scream as loud as you can for help, ok got it good.'

I screamed "H-E-L-P HELP HELP ME!" But no one replied. All I could here was the echo of my voice and chirp of the birds in the morning breeze and then.....

"Maria, I'm so glad we found you, I woke up on a stick with a bunch of ugly short people carrying me, but I heroically fought them and then heroically won. Aren't you proud of me?" there was a long long long long long long long long long well I think you get it, it was a long pause. They got up and started walking forward towards were the screaming kept coming from.

"Oh yah honey happy birthday, SMOOCH," Dad gave Maria a kiss on the cheek.

"Where is Ted?" asked Maria

"I really don't know where he went. He might have not woke up and they made him into Ted stew, ewww?" replied Bob, Maria bumped into a squishy gray ball about double the size of her “Oww I don’t know what you are but, you look comfy, so I’m going to sit on you. Ahh you are comfy. I’m going to stay here all day.”

“Oh no you ain’t,” replied Bob. Maria slowly started walking through the dry desert when we came to a big cave “Grrrrr grrrrrrr grrrrrrr” apparently I didn’t hear because we went in. Of course I wasn’t looking and fell into a big hole.

“Ha-ha we have you, now you can stay with your little teddy bear!” laughed the troll. They threw Ted into the hole with them.

“You will be our slaves for eternity!” laughed the troll.

To be continued.....