

The Adventure

by Tyten

The Adventure

Chapter 5

Volcanic Explosion

I was defusing a bomb on the Super Volcano. It looked like an alien had made it. So many buttons it was like future tech. It had a red button, a green button, and a button labeled self-destruct. "

Well that's dumb." I said to myself.

"Guess which button shuts it down," laughed Draco.

So I hesitantly hit the green button.

"Fool" yelled Draco, "Why would I make it that easy? None of them shut it down ma ha ha ha ha."

The next thing I knew, I was running from the Super Volcano. The loud "boom" of the volcano trailed behind. I ran down the slope of the volcano to my horse and quickly jumped on it. My horse ran dodging rocks suddenly a rock flew from the sky and hit my horse. My horse was wounded.

Obviously I would have to leave it behind. I ran as fast as my legs could go. Ash snowing down from the sky blocked my view and I could hardly breathe. I ripped my sleeve and wrapped it around my mouth.

"Surrender now you have no choice!" Draco commanded watching me.

It seemed like it was just a game to Draco I wondered why he didn't attack me. "Never!" I shouted. I found some wooden planks from the wreckage and tied them together to make a raft to float off the island. The raft started leaking half way through the ride. it started to go into the water and go deeper and deeper faster and faster until I had to swim. Luckily I spotted a different island off in the distance. While I was swimming gray fins started popping up out of the water. I swam for my life until I got to shore.

I was exhausted from frantically swimming to the island. So I rested for about five minutes, then I explored. While I was exploring I stumbled across a small village with a minimum of 20 people it had run down houses. I traded my chain mail for a horse. I rode following Draco. When I was chasing Draco I lost my sword I decided that I needed my sword so I went to find it but when I was looking for my sword in the desert I lost Draco.

So I traveled to the ancient pyramid of awesomeness. (The pyramid is made of gold it won't really stand attacks so the villagers encased it in diamond.) From then I started to travel to Draco's lair.

TO BE

CONTINUED.....

PERHAPS.....

Dun Dun Dun.....