The Key Chain

By Alysa T.

A long time ago there were two kids named Janessa and Bobby Joe. They were both travelers. Well, one time they were going on a trip to get a special key chain. It was at Key Chain Mountain.

They got all ready and started to leave the valley. Janessa and Bobby Joe started to run because they knew they had to travel quickly.

Janessa and Bobby Joe came across a huge rock, and it had a sign that said,

“Key Chain Mountain That way →”

Janessa and Bobby Joe started to head that way. They came across a huge wooden platform that was above that river. It was made of wood and stone. It wobbled, and wiggled, and creaked.

“Ow!” Janessa cried.

“What’s wrong?” Bobby Joe questioned.

“Well I tripped, and scraped my knee!” She wined back to Bobby Joe.

“No being a baby Janessa anyways it is just a little scrape! Get back up.” Bobby Joe rudely spoke.

“Oh Okay.” Janessa replied.

Janessa got back up and said “It’s hot out here can we get moving?”

They started to walk when Janessa put her hands over her shoulders and started taking her bun out of her hair. Her brown and blonde hair flew through the wind. Janessa put it back up in a high pony tail.

“Stop messing with your hair little sis. Let’s get moving!” Bobby Joe exclaimed.

They started to run when a ton of rocks and a sand storm hit them. They had to take cover. They started to doze off. When they woke up in the morning it was really early. They started to walk and ran into an area that had big trees, alligators, crocodiles, many turtles, and otters too. Swarms of mosquitos buzzed around them nearly driving them crazy. Then they spotted a moss covered house that was falling apart.

Chapter Two

Janessa and Bobby Joe started going towards the house and it was made of a dark spruce wood and has spider webs all around. They started to shake and breathe in and out. They began to back up. Janessa ran forward and started to slow down when she got close to the house. Bobby Joe came and ran after Janessa.

Janessa started to stand on Bobby Joe. She climbed all over him. Janessa peaked through the window to get a glimpse of what was in there. Janessa saw a lady!

The lady didn't see Janessa. But Janessa got so scared that she fell and screamed "OW!!" Janessa got back up and hid under the stairs. She was scared that the lady would hear her.

“What’s wrong, what did you see, Janessa?”

Bobby Joe quietly spoke.

“I saw an old lady. She had a black cape on.”

Janessa spoke confused. “I want to get to know her and who she is.” Janessa said.

Janessa tiptoed out of under the stairs. She started to walk slowly up the stairs.

Bobby Joe whispered “No!” When he was already too late. He slowly walked up too.

The lady yelped, “Oh hello is that your sister? Well she is right over there. Just let me get dressed real quick.” She walked slowly to a room down the hall.

“Janessa what were you thinking!?!?” Bobby Joe questioned Janessa.

“I told you I wanted to get to know her!” Janessa told him.

“I still can’t believe you were stupid enough to do that!” Bobby Joe argued

Chapter 3

Janessa started to look all around under things and in things but she didn't find anything. Janessa was looking for anything she could have a use for. Janessa heard footsteps down the hall so she stopped looking.

The lady came back with different clothing on.

“Sit on the couch little cupcakes, it’s okay.” She grumbled to Janessa and Bobby Joe.

“Oh, well I am fine.” Janessa mumbled.

“Come on Janessa. Sit down.” Bobby Joe said in a convincing tone.

“Fine!” Janessa replied. The lady was gone when Janessa was looking for her once she sat down. The lady brought out cookies and said “Sweeties do you want some cookies?”

Bobby Joe reached for 1 and said “THANKYOU!! I am starving!” He ate that whole plate, and didn’t save any for Janessa.

“Can you get more?” He asked the lady.

The lady went to another room that was dark and didn’t have any colors. She came out and had more cookies. They were partly green and had raisons. Bobby Joe reached for 2 and ate them. He fell to the ground and started mumbling,

“Mm mm those cookies look great.”

He continued to talk about the cookies.

Janessa started to ask the lady about the cookies.

“How did they make him fall to the ground?”

Janessa asked.

“I think he just loves those cookies.” The lady replied.

“Oh okay. As long as he is okay. I was wondering if you could give me a tour of your house.”

“Yes I would love to.” The lady screeched.

The lady started to walk and Janessa started to follow. Janessa peaked through all of these rooms.

Janessa gasped!

“What’s wrong?” The lady asked.

“Oh nothing.” Janessa spoke back.

The lady kept walking. Janessa stopped walking and wondered into a room.

She looked and something said “Best witch ever!”

She grabbed a pole and ran out and hit the witch in the back of the head. Janessa went back into the room and looked for something that could help Bobby Joe. Janessa found something and grabbed it.

She ran out into the living room and looked for Bobby Joe. She couldn’t find him. She ran into all of the rooms in the house. Janessa ran outside and saw nobody nothing. She only saw that the house was on fire. Janessa only heard and evil laugh. Janessa fell to the ground and started crying.

“Why did this happen to me?”
